[Evening Despatches to the Times.]

From the Army of the Potomac—Rebel Army Across the River—Important from Charleston—All of Morris Island Taken but one Fort—Rebel Loss about 800—Later Vicksburg News—31,277 Prisoners Paroled—Sixty Thousand Stand of Arms Taken—200 Cannon Captured—More Ships Destroyed by the Pirate Florida—A Battle between Sherman and Johnston—Joe Johnston Defeated—Port Hudson Reported Surrendered July 5th.

NEW YORK, July 14th

The brokers held a meeting this afternoon and adjourned their companies for immediate service. Similar meetings are being held in different parts of the city.

Vessels have been hauled from the docks into the stream, and, gunboats anchored in certain localities, so as to command the streets where the mob is expected to operate. One is anchored off Wall street.

The stores down town are now closed. The armories and arsenals are now fully garrisoned, as well as the public buildings, including the Custom House, &c.

The reserves of our city regiments are now organized, and will soon be operating.

It is expected there will be some 5000 effective troops in the city this evening.

A battalion of the 7th regiment reserve is already on duty.

The police have done nobly to-day.

Omnibuses have stopped running, and horse cars have suspended operations under the threat of the mob.

A large pork packing factory on Washington street was burned by the mob early this morning.

A block of nine buildings including a planing mill on 19th street were also burnt by the mob this morning.

The mob took possession of a tenement block on 34th street, but were driven out by the infantry, who pushed in, throwing rioters out of the windows, shooting and killing several. It was a desperate affair, and the mob endeavored to rally, but a charge from the soldiers drove them pell mell.

The mob set a school house on fire on 17th street, but the fire was extinguished and the mob driven away by the police.

An attack was made on a detachment of marines near Abbey street; when the latter fired, killing three and wounding six others.

HEADQUARTERS Army of Potomac, July 14th.

Lee's army withdrew from their position around Williamsport, yesterday and last night, and recrossed the Potomac by a pontoon bridge at Falling Waters, and flat boats at Williamsport Ferry.

A portion of Gen Pleasanton's cavalry entered Williamsport at 9 o'clock this morning, and captured many prisoners.

Lee had previously sent over all his plunder trains, &c.

A general movement was ordered this morning, and our columns were in motion at an early hour, but found the entrenchments vacated.

Signed) T B

WASHINGTON, 14th.

The following has been received at the War Department—

Headquarters Army of Potomac, July 14th—3 p m.

H W Halleck, General in Chief:

My cavalry now occupy Falling Waters, having overtaken and captured a brigade of infantry 1500 strong, 2 guns, 2 caissons, 2 battle and a large number of small arms.

The enemy are all across the Potomac.

(Signed) G. G MEADE.

FORTRESS MONROE, 14th.

Fort Powhattan on James River was taken possession of by our fleet yesterday. All the men and guns had been removed.

The gunboat Union, bound to New York, has just arrived from Charleston.

She reports all of Morris Island captured except Fort Wagner.

The enemy's loss in killed, wounded and prisoners is between 700 and 800. The attack commenced last Friday morning. The Union left Monday afternoon, at which time the siege of Fort Wagner was progressing with every prospect of a speedy capture. Five monitors were engaged.

WASHINGTON, 14th.

Advices from Vicksburg to the evening of the 8th, state that 27,000 rebel soldiers had been paroled up to that time.

Sixty thousand stand of small arms had been found mainly in good condition, and more were constantly being discovered. They were concealed in caves as well as in all sorts of buildings.

The siege and sea-coast guns exceed 60, and the whole captured artillery is about 200 pieces. The stores of rebel ammunition also proves to be surprisingly heavy.

The stock of army clothing is officially invoiced at $500,000 at confederate prices. Of sugar, molasses and salt there is a large quantity.

Sixty thousand lbs. of bacon were found in one place.

NEW YORK, 14th—9 P M.

The Tribune and the Times offices are barricaded to-night with bundles of printing paper.

A heavy force of police is about them and on the sidewalk of Printing House Square in front of the Times offices is a small cannon which fires 12 balls at a discharge.

The mob this afternoon got as far down town as Fulton Ferry, visiting many vessels and compelling the men on board of them to join them and steal as much as what they wanted.

There is a full force of Government employees at the Post Office to-night, with arms and two cannon. The ferocious crowd this afternoon were told by scoundrels that Massachusetts soldiers had fired on the people, at which fiend howls of vengeance were uttered against her. Nothing further was, however, attempted.

All the New England Rooms to-night, a squad of conservatives organized and proceeded to the residence of Col. Howe on Lexington Avenue, to protect it if need be from the mob.

The 7th, 8th and 71st regiments, now at the seat of war, are understood to have been sent for, and the 7th regiment is expected to-night.

NEW BEDFORD, Mass., 15th.

The draft at about 11:30 in the forenoon was suspended by the Provost Marshal by orders, but he did not say from whom the orders emanated.

HALIFAX, 16th.

Bermuda advices of the 6th, state that the whaling sch. Varnum H. Hill of Provincetown, had arrived there and reports last Saturday at 10 in the forenoon, lat. 30, lon. 48 was hailed by a steamer close under her stern and ordered to lay to. The steamer proved to be the Florida, Capt Freeman of Jacksonville, Fla. in a boat to the steamer where he was informed Maffit that he had 56 prisoners, and wished Capt Freeman would take them on board, saying if he had not room for them he would burn the schooner, and exacted a bond of $10,000. He took two barrels of oil.

The prisoners were sent on board the Hill with provisions. They were obliged to remain on deck the whole time, as there was no accommodation for them below.

The following are the particulars of the destruction of three large ships by the Florida, given by the respective crews of the ships.

Southern Cross, of Boston, from the Pacific side of Mexico, with logwood, captured June 6, south, lat 1 west, lon. 36, Captain Howes and wife and crew, transferred to a French bark for Pernambuco. The vessel was burned.

The ship Red Gauntlet, of Boston, twenty-three days from Hong Kong, with coals, ice, provisions, &c., captured June 16th, lat. 7 east of the line. Florida took a supply of coals, provisions, a full set new sails and drew, set fire and left her.

The ship Benjamin Hoxie Mystic, from San Francisco, Jan. 13, bound to Falmouth Eng., with logwood, hides, 30 tons silver ore, $500,000 worth of bar silver, and $8,000 in gold was captured June 16, lat. 12, lon. 29. After removing the Captain, crew, 20 silver bars, and specie, she was destroyed by fire. The silver ore, valued at $500,000, was left on board.—Three of the crew of the Southern Cross, five of the Red Gauntlet and three of the Benjamin Hoxie, volunteered on board the Florida. They receive $22 per month, $60 bounty, and their proportion of prize money.

The crew of the Florida said that a few days before capturing the Southern Cross, they took a bark and brigantine, and put prize crews on board.

After the capture of the Benjamin Hoxie, the prisoners were all kept in irons as a precautionary measure.

CINCINNATI, 14th.

The Commercial has Vicksburg advices to the 8th inst.

General Grant has finished paroling the rebel prisoners. They number 31,277.

The general officers captured include Generals Pemberton, Stevenson, Forney, Smith, Lee, Taylor, Herbert, Cummings, Burton, Sharp, Harris, Moore, Baldwin and Vaughan.

An engagement between Generals Sherman and Johnston resulted in the defeat of the latter and the capture of 2000 prisoners. A rumor was in circulation that Port Hudson surrendered to Gen Banks on the 6th, and that we took 18,000 prisoners.

AN ENCHANTED ISLAND.

A wonderful stream is the river Time,
As it runs through the realms of tears
With a faultless rythm, and a musical rhyme,
And a broader sweep, and a surge sublime,
As it blends with the ocean of years

There is a musical isle up the river Time,
Where the softest of airs are playing;
There's a cloudless sky, and a tropical clime,
And a song as sweet as a vesper chime,
And the tunes with the roses are staying

And the name of this isle is the Long Ago
And we bury our treasures there.
There are brows of beauty and bosoms of snow
There are heaps of dust, but we love them so!
There are trinkets, and tresses of hair.

There are fragments of songs that nobody sings,
And a part of an infant's prayer
There's a lute unswept, and a harp without strings
There are broken vows, and pieces of rings
And the garment she used to wear

There are hands that are waxed when the fairy shore
By the mirage is lifted in air,
And we sometimes hear, thro' the turbulent roar
Sweet voices we heard, in the days gone before
When the wind down the river is fair.

O, remembered for aye be the blessed isle,
All the day of life through and night!
And when evening comes, with its beautiful smile,
And our eyes are closing to slumber awhile,
May that "Greenwood" of soul be in sight!

The Olive for Peace.

That the Government and loyal People of the United States ardently desire the restoration of Peace at the earliest day consistent with the integrity and honor of our country, is known throughout the world. That no proper overture looking to that end has been or will be rejected is equally certain. We assert, as a fact that cannot be gainsayed, that no overture looking to or contemplating a return to the Union on any terms has yet been made by the chiefs of the Rebellion. Every authentic utterance of Rebel sentiments is for War—War to the bitter end—or, as the Richmond Dispatch said last week, "No Peace of which we do not dictate the terms"—their first demand being that their Confederacy be recognized and treated with as an independent power. When the Unionists are ready for that sort of Peace they will treat; but (as they have maintained up to this time) not before.

We are amazed that the bitterest Copperhead journal should assail the Government for its response to the late Stephens overture. Consider the facts:

It has simply refused to allow a Confederate war steamer, fully armed and manned, to pass down the James River, through Hampton Roads, up the Chesapeake and Potomac to Washington, there to await the pleasure of Mr. A. H. Stephens, Vice-President of the Rebel Confederacy. Is there any Government on earth that would allow an enemy's ship-of-war to make such a promenade of espionage through its most vital defenses, to cast anchor under the shadow of its Capitol, there to await the pleasure of its astute "Military Commissioner?" Jeff might as reasonably have asked us to give him Fortress Monroe.

Mr. Stephens announced himself expressly as the bearer of a cartel from "Jefferson Davis, Commander-in-Chief of the land and naval forces of the Confederate States," to Mr. Lincoln, not as President but as Commander-in-Chief on our side. He thus took the utmost care to divest his mission of any pacific aspect. He was doubtless sent to threaten the North with fire and sword at the hands of Lee's victorious invincibles; and is now heartily glad that he was restrained from thus making a fool of himself; for his ass heard from Gettysburg, Vicksburg and Helena. His escape from the caricaturists of both hemispheres was a very narrow one.

We say to those who honestly desire an early and honorable Peace, Confide in your Government, and do not embarrass it by factious or weakening demonstrations. The Government is as anxious for a right Peace as you can be, and will neglect no opportunity to secure it. But meetings or clamors for Peace in the loyal States, while none are permitted in the disloyal, will only serve to postpone the consummation, by creating false hopes and impelling the Rebels to hold out for better terms. Already the word is passed around among them, "If we can but maintain ourselves a while longer the Democrats will come into power in '64, and will give us whatever we ask." This calculation is every way fallacious, but it is none less mischievous. Let the Rebels realize that they have nothing to hope from European Intervention or Northern sympathy, and they will soon be ready for a genuine and lasting peace.—N Y Tribune.

The speech of Franklin Pierce will excite the indignation and disgust of every loyal man. At the time when the foe is over the frontier, carrying desolation to our peaceful homes, a man who has held the great office of President of the United States, declares before the country that the contest which is waging for the life of the republic, has been brought about by the "venomous intermeddling" of the north with the constitutional rights of the south. And his copperhead sympathizers receive his words with shouts for him and for his "noble martyr" Vallandigham. Why do we be and they leave the New England that is good worthy of them, and go to the South, where they think the constitution is so much better observed, and where they can enjoy the full benefit of that peculiar institution, for the extension and perpetuation of which they have been willing to risk the national existence.

Melancholy as have been the exhibitions of party spirit and disloyalty in the north, there has been no sadder spectacle than that of an ex President of the United States spreading the polished periods of his graceful rhetoric over the sentiments of treason, denouncing the government, and apologizing for the rebellion, on the anniversary of the Declaration of Independence. We should think that a thousand ghastly faces upturned upon the fields of Pennsylvania would haunt his slumbers, that the indignant voices of the patriots whose great hearts made that day sacred would ring in his ears.

—Providence Journal

We learn from Black Hawk Chronicle of the 20th ult., that the white captain and all the negroes caught by the rebels at Milliken's Bend were hung by orders of General Taylor, son of Old Zack, who drew up his command to witness the execution. An Orderly Sergeant in charge of some plantation negroes, was also hung. On the 27th ult., one mortar shell killed twenty-seven soldiers at Vicksburg belonging to a Georgia regiment. The leaks of the Indianola, ironclad, it is believed, have been stopped. Jeff Davis' negroes have cleaned out the mud in her, and her machinery has been put in good order. It is expected that she will float the first good rise of the Mississippi. The Carondelet keeps guard over her, and takes the coal out to her.

—New York Times

The Canadian sympathizers with secession find it as hard as the Richmond people do to believe the news of our victories. The Montreal Transcript is sure that the tidings from Pennsylvania are false, and says that the report of the surrender of Vicksburg is as much only as if it had been made on the first of April.

The Baltimore American says that about 200 of the prisoners taken at Gettysburg, and now in Baltimore, desire to take the oath of allegiance, and many have done so.

INTERESTING TO DRAFTED MEN. It may interest those who may be drafted to know that exemptions excepted, they are to be called on to serve in the order in which they are drawn; that they are to be notified, within ten days after being drawn, of the fact, requiring them to appear at a designated rendezvous to report for duty; that on their arrival at the rendezvous they are to be carefully inspected by the surgeon of the enrolling board, and if found to be physically disqualified they will be there exempted; that any person drafted may, on or before the day fixed for his appearance, furnish an acceptable substitute to take his place, or he may pay to the Collector of Internal Revenue for his district the sum of $300, and thereby be exempt from any further liability under that draft. Any person failing to report himself, furnish a substitute or pay the $300, shall be deemed a deserter, and be arrested and tried as such, unless upon proper showing that he is not liable to do military duty the Board of Enrollment shall relieve him from the draft. The persons exempted by the act, in addition to those physically or mentally disabled, are as follows:

First, the Vice President of the United States, the Judges of the various Courts of the United States, the heads of the various executive departments of the government, and the Governors of the several States. Second, the only son liable to military duty of a widow dependent upon his labor for support. Third, the only son of aged and infirm parents dependent upon his labor for support. Fourth, where there are two or more sons of aged and infirm parents liable to draft, the father, or, if he be dead, the mother may elect which son shall be exempt. Fifth, the only brother of children not twelve years old, (having neither father nor mother,) dependent upon his labor or support. Sixth, the father of motherless children under twelve years of age dependent upon his labor for support. Seventh, where there are a father and two sons in the same family and household, and two of them are in the military service of the United States as commissioned officers, musicians or privates, the residue of such family and household, not exceeding two, shall be exempt. And no persons but such as are herein excepted shall be exempt: Provided, however, That no person who has been convicted of any felony shall be enrolled or permitted to serve in said forces.

The persons enrolled under the act are divided into two classes. The first consisting of all persons subject to military duty between the ages of twenty and thirty five, and all unmarried persons liable to military duty above thirty five and under forty-five. The second class consists of all other persons subject to military service. The second class shall not in any district be called into service until those of the first shall have been called.

JEFF. DAVIS'S VIEW OF VICKSBURG. After having visited Vicksburg last fall, Jeff Davis addressed the Legislature of Mississippi, and in the course of his speech said:

Vicksburg and Port Hudson are the real points of attack. Every effort will be made to capture these places, with the object of forcing the navigation of the Mississippi, of cutting off our communications with the trans-Mississippi Department, and of severing the western from the eastern portion of the Confederacy. Let then all who have at heart the safety of the country, go without delay to Vicksburg and Port Hudson; let them go for such length of time as they can spare—for thirty, or sixty, or ninety days. Let them assist in preserving the Mississippi river, that great artery of the country, and thus contribute, more than in any other way, to the preservation of the Confederacy and the success of the cause.

The New York papers of Tuesday publish a call from Major General Wool to the veteran volunteers who have recently returned from the service of their country on the field of battle, to again rally to save the emporium of the nation from danger of a ruthless mob. The National Guard Reserve (7th regiment) also the 9th, 22d, and 71st regiments, and the several batteries and companies of United States troops stationed in and about the city, were all ordered to be under arms on Tuesday evening, the entire force to be under command of Brigadier General Harvey Brown of the regulars.

The Tribune sums up the proceedings of the mob in the following resume:

Passing over the premonitory symptoms, we come at once to the subsiding up, which it may be more intelligible to state at once. The facts, then, are these—Thirteen wise men on the howling mob of yesterday, Monday, July 13, 1863, are guilty of aggravated assault and battery—of grand larceny—of drunkenly resisting the execution of the laws with armed violence—of treason—of insurrection—of arson—and of murder. The catalogue lacked but one atrocity to prove itself matchless in brutal villainy in the whole world's history of mob atrocity and violence; and so this mob—these amiable gentlemen—before they were content to rest their tired hands upon their imminent pillows, added this last and browning item to the Christian-like list of their Good Samaritan deeds—they deliberately set on fire over the heads of the terrified and screaming children, an Orphan Asylum. Does this fact call for comment?

During the raid of Gen Forster's troops in North Carolina, a private in the Ninth New Jersey, had the sole of his shoe carried off by a piece of a shell. When his shoe was struck he imagined his whole foot had been carried away, and he dropped to the ground, perfectly helpless. When the surgeon examined his foot, and found how slight had been the injury, he told the soldier the simple nature of the damage.—'What,' exclaimed he, 'din't my foot shot off?' 'No.' 'The devil it ain't; then give me my musket, I'm in for the fight again.'

ACKNOWLEDGMENT OF THE BANGOR CONTRIBUTION. Mayor Dale has received the following letters of acknowledgment, from the Sanitary Commission and the Christian Commission, of the $1400 so promptly subscribed and paid by our citizens last week, in aid of the sick and wounded soldiers of the Potomac Army.

PHILADELPHIA, July 11th, 1863.

Hon. Samuel H. Dale, Mayor of Bangor,

Dear Sir—I acknowledge with much pleasure the receipt (by this day's mail) of your favor of the 8th inst., enclosing a draft for seven hundred dollars ($700.) It will be applied to the immediate relief of suffering soldiers, by purchasing those articles with which we are not sufficiently supplied by gif.

Please acknowledge the receipt of the contribution to the donors, with many thanks for their timely interest in our good and great work.

Very respectfully, yours,
Geo H Stuart,
Chairman U. S. Christian Commission

BOSTON, July 10th, 1863

Samuel H Dale, Esq., Mayor of Bangor,

Dear Sir—I have your favor of the 8th inst., enclosing check for $700, a contribution from the good people of your city, in aid of the Sanitary Commission.

In behalf of the Commission, I thank you most heartily for this generous and very acceptable donation. It comes indeed in the midst of rejoicings over the successes of noble brothers in the field, yet at an hour when our needs are very, very urgent, and when every effort is being made to answer repeated calls on the Commission for supplies

With cordial good will, I am, dear sir, very truly,

G. Higginson, Treasurer

KILLED. Fred H Rogers, of Company K, 4th Maine Volunteers, son of widow Leonard W. Rogers of this city was instantly killed at the battle of Gettysburg. He was about 20 years of age. He was a brave and gallant soldier, and was much respected by his comrades. Fred was formerly in our employ, and we have watched his career with interest. He was in the first battle of Bull Run and has been in every battle by the 4th Maine since that time. His money was all sent home to his mother, except one dollar per month.

☞ At a meeting of the Penobscot Ministerial Association in the Seminary Chapel, on the 13th inst., twenty-three young men were examined, and received license to preach the gospel. Fourteen of these were from the senior class, and nine from the middle class, who have another year to remain at the Seminary.

GREAT SALE OF PINE TIMBER LANDS. The attention of Lumber dealers is directed to the advertisement of five hundred and twenty-five thousand acres of fine timber lands to be sold at public auction in the city of Detroit Mich., on the 2d day of September next.

☞ Messrs Patch & Hight are importing what is called "The Perfect Pens." We don't know as this is their correct designation, but they write as well for us as any pens we have ever tried, and are considered equal to anything in the market. We should like to see the man who could invent a pen that would write well in our hand. The best show we ever made in that line was with a sharp pointed stick.

☞ The revenue cutter "Dobbin," Captain John A. Webster, Jr., takes the place of the Caleb Cushing, on the Portland station.

☞ Mr. Asher Fletcher of Skowhegan, was struck on the head with a hammer, and seriously injured, so he was entering a saloon in Lewiston a few days ago, by an individual who took him for another man. Such mistakes are far from being agreeable.

☞ In Providence, last week, one young man being told that he was drafted, rushed to a recruiting office and enlisted in order to secure the bounty. He was not a little chagrined to learn, when it was too late, that a joke had been played upon him—that he had not been drafted.

☞ For a lady to sweep her carpet with embroidered under-sleeves would be considered indecently dirty; but to drag the pavements with her shirts seems to be very genteel.

☞ Young ladies who "faint on being "proposed to," can be restored to consciousness by just whispering in the rear ear that you were only joking.

☞ The prompt establishment of a post office at Vicksburg the day after its surrender was characteristic of the Yankees. The Providence Journal says it would not be surprised to hear that there were agents there on the same day soliciting subscriptions to northern newspapers.

☞ A good reason why loyal men should have confidence in Judge Cony, may be found in the fact that the Augusta Age denounces him as an abolitionist. Unless a number of offices which he has filled, yet finds nothing to condemn but the fact that he now acts with the party that supports the government.—Oxford Democrat.

☞ Captain Almon L. Fogg, of Co. H, 17th regiment, who was killed at Gettysburg, is reported to be from Westbrook, although our impression is that he lived in Hudson, where he enlisted. Lieut. Johnson, from Presque Isle, of the same company, was killed at Chancellorsville.—Portland Courier.

☞ The Portland Advertiser is in favor of suspending operations on the Potomac to allow the enemy time to get breath, powder and provisions, as they are now laboring under many disadvantages.—Bath Sentinel.

DEATH OF AN OLD PRINTER. Wm. T. Gleason, who had been employed as a compositor on the Courier 86 years and eight months, died yesterday morning at the age of 69 years and 8 months.—Boston Herald.

THE SEVENTEENTH MAINE. The Portland Courier says:

From a private letter received in this city from an officer in the Seventeenth Maine Volunteers, we learn that the loss in that Regiment was ninety-one, seventeen killed and seventy-four wounded.

A. J. O. Brown, J. S. Hodsdon, killed; Pulsifer, shot through both thighs; Blake, in leg below the knee; Skilling, in thigh—not bad; Spaulding in foot; Corporal Jones, slightly in leg; Marston, lost two toes; Millikin, in left arm.—The Color Sergeant of the reg ment was killed.

☞ Under a new State law authority has been granted to the old Norway Light Infantry to re-organize and become one of the companies constituting the State Guard. The company has accordingly re-organized by the choice of Sylvanus Cobb Jr., the novelist who resided in Norway, as Captain, and by the choice of the full complement of officers.—Lewiston Journal.

THE CAPTIVE OF GEN DOW. The Press publishes a letter from Port Hudson, received by a son of Gen N. A. Dowd. It says:

Your father was captured by a number of Confederate Cavalry, while returning from a visit to a Dr. Barnett. Being wounded he will be treated with kindness, and well cared for, as our wounded generally are in this department.

When the General was wounded on the 27th of May, he declined to avail himself to remain here, owing to a rumor that New Orleans was very unhealthy.

A few days since he removed to a house about a mile and a half in the rear of Gen. Dwight's headquarters, thinking it quite safe, as the teams of our forces were continually going to and from the house for water.

I have not the slightest doubt that the General's capture was planned by certain rebels living near here.

☞ Dr. J. S. Houghton of Skowhegan, has gone to Washington to tender his services gratuitously to the government in taking care of the sick and wounded. So says the Clarion.

FORGERY. The Argus says Charles E. Jordan of Potland is under arrest for forgery. The amount is variously estimated at from $12,000 to $20,000, principally to the Banks at Waterville.

☞ Amon, the member drafted yesterday were the two faithful and accommodating window clerks in the Post-Office, Mr Yorkand Mr Stevens. Mr George H. Holden, the ship news collector of the Argus, and Mr. Charles W. Ross, one of the compositors of the Advertiser, were among the drafted men. Three or four more red men were drawn.—Portland Press.

Fort Popham when completed will be manned with 66 guns. Some are already in position, and others will be added as the work progresses. Those at present in position are 100 pound rifle cannon, and a rebel vessel coming in range would suffer for its temerity. A present, only about one hundred men are at work, though more could doubtless be employed. When completed, Fort Popham will be one of the best of the kind on the coast.—Bath Times.

WAKED UP. We have the following statement from the best authority. When the officer having the order to General Meade to take command of the Army of the Potomac called on him he found the General sleeping soundly. He awoke him by saying: "General Meade, I have an order here which I fear will give you trouble." The General rose at once remarking:—"Well, sir, I have always endeavored to do my whole duty." To his amazement, he found that the whole Army of the Potomac was placed under him. His first orders were given immediately.—New Bedford Mercury.

General Jenkins, who was captured on Friday, will have hard, we fear, if he falls into the hands of the Pennsylvania copperheads. A good many at first are told of his severe usage of them. When some of them appeared professing to sympathize with the South, he told them that they would of course be willing to show their zeal by fighting for the South, and took them into the ranks. From others he took horses, remarking that of course they would be glad to contribute their animals to the cause for which they professed such love. It is reported that three of them who sought his protection with craven hearted sycophancy styling themselves friends of the South, were by his order kicked out of his lines, as too great cowards to stay.—Providence Journal.

BRAVERY OF OUR BLACK SOLDIERS. The Port Hudson correspondent of the Chicago Tribune relates the following instance of the heroic bravery of our black soldiers. At the unsuccessful assault upon Port Hudson, General Paine fell severely wounded, and our forces were compelled to retire, leaving him with the rest of the wounded on the field, which was swept by the rebel shot and shell, and by the sharpshooters from their overlooking work. The enquiry run through the ranks, who will rescue the wounded General? It is a fearful errand, and he who would assume it takes his life in his hands—And yet the must not be left to die. Four black soldiers voluntarily move out to the rescue—They reach him, raise him tenderly to their arms, and the dangerous return journey is commenced. Rifles crack sharply from the rebel works; one and two of the brave bearers fall. Now all are down, and the wounded officer is still exposed. The peril of aiding him has been fearfully demonstrated. But again and again pair ses of colored men step forward by fours. Dead ally missiles rain around them—again and again their numbers are thinned—Not until four pairs have black men have offered up their lives was General Paine brought safely within our lines.

And these are our black allies. These are the men into whose hands we so reluctantly entrusted the implements of war to aid us in crushing this rebellion. The whole records of the world's heroism may be searched for an incident to surpass this.

IN DETROIT, MICHIGAN

GREAT SALE OF PINE TIMBER LANDS.

THE ST. MARY'S FALLS SHIP CANAL COMPANY will offer, at public auction, in the city of Detroit, on the second day of September next, of Pine Timber Lands, lying in the State of Michigan, which were selected with great care nearly ten years since. It is estimated by good judges that the Lands comprise at least one half of all the pine timber lands in the State, which are equal to them in quality and position.

The facilities which Michigan affords for manufacturing and transporting lumber are so great, the consumption is so large, and the area of pine timber lands between the Alleghanies and the Rocky Mountains is so small, that the value of these lands must yearly advance in a constantly increasing ratio.

For the purpose of the sale the lands have been arranged into a large number of groupes, with a minimum price affixed upon each group at an average of about $4 per acre, so that the capital[illegible] to purchase is not only very great to lumbermen, but also to others who may be seeking to make safe and profitable investments.

The object of the Company will be reserved at par in payment of purchases made at the sale to an amount equal to 9[illegible] per cent. of the whole purchase money, the remainder, 5[illegible] per cent., to be paid in cash.

Catalogues, with full particulars, accompanied with maps, can be obtained on application to

HEADQUARTERS Army of the Potomac, 14th

Officers report that they have captured about 2000 prisoners, two guns, several caissons and a stand of colors this morning at Falling Waters

The following estimates have been made by competent officers, of Lee's losses since crossing the Potomac 5000 killed, 9000 wounded, 3500 prisoners

It is known that 6000 wounded rebels passed through Winchester three days ago, and 800 wagons full of wounded have been carried over the river Desertions will probably reach 8000, making a total loss of not less than 33,000.

A number of deserters from our army arrived in camp An early trial will be had, and the punishment prescribed awarded them

BALTIMORE, 15th.

The American has the following special

Williamsport, 14th.

I telegraphed you this morning that General Lee was retreating, and would probably escape across the river

Our army was under orders to move at daybreak this morning It moved only to find no enemy in front of it.

I followed the advance down to this place, and a clearer clearing out than the rebels have made could not be imagined

The rebels commenced their retreat yesterday morning Their infantry crossed principally on a pontoon bridge at Falling Water. Their waggons and artillery crossed at four fords.

The river was not so high as was reported.

The people at Williamsport say the rebels dreaded an attack yesterday, as part of their force was already across the river.

The panel fortifications in front of here are no more than temporary affairs and could have easily been carried by assault

We waited just one day too long.

There was some artillery firing at Falling Water this afternoon, and it was reported that some 2000 prisoners have been captured

The New York World of yesterday continued its diabolical work of inciting resistance to the government even while hypocritically condemning the rioters It had several incendiary articles, one of which, headed "Fighting for the Negro" was obviously designed to stir up trouble in the army The hands of the editor of that paper are already red with the blood of the innocent and helpless What the horrors would they bring upon the country?—Boston Jour

The New York mob.

The commencement of the riot in New York is thus described by the New York Times

The initiation of the draft on Saturday in the Ninth Congressional District was characterized by as much order and good feeling as to well nigh dispel the forebodings of tumult and violence, which many entertained in connection with the enforcement of the conscription in this city Very few men were more prepared for the riotous demonstrations which yesterday, it can ten in the morning and late at night, prevailed almost unchecked in our streets

The authorities had counted upon more or less resistance to this measure of the Government after the draft was completed, and the conscripts were required to take their place in the ranks, and at that time they would have been fully prepared to meet it, but no one anticipated resistance at no early a stage in the execution of the law and consequently, both the city and national authorities were totally unprepared to meet it The shutters of the riot knew this, and in it they saw their opportunity We say abettors of the riot, for it is abundantly manifest that the whole affair was concocted on Sunday last by a few wire pullers, who, after they saw the ball fairly in motion yesterday morning, prudently kept in the back ground Proof of this is found in the fact that as early as nine o'clock some laborers employed by two or three railroad companies and in the iron foundries on the eastern side of the city, formed in procession in the Twenty-second Ward and visited the different workshops in the upper wards, where large numbers were employed, and compelled them, by threats in some instances, to cease their work

As the crowd augmented their shouts and disorderly demonstrations became more formidable The number of men who thus started out in their career of violence and blood did not probably at first exceed three score Scarcely had two dozen names been called when a crowd, numbering perhaps five hundred, suddenly made an irruption in front of the building, (corner of Third avenue and Forty-sixth street) at sacking it with clubs, stones, brickbats and other missiles The upper part of the building was occupied by families who were terrified beyond measure at the smashing of the windows, doors and furniture Following these missiles the mob rushed furiously into the office on the first floor, where the draft was going on among the horses, papers, lists, &c all of which they destroyed except those contained in a large iron safe.

The drafting officers were set upon with stones and clubs, and, with the reporters for the press and others, had to make a hasty exit through the rear They did not escape scatheless, how ever, as one of the enrolling officers was struck a savage blow with a stone, which will probably result fatally and several others were injured

From the above it will be seen that the drawing by Provost Marshal Jenkins did not commence punctually at 9 o clock, as was intended Intimations had been received that a riot was probable, and Acting Assistant Provost Marshal General Nugent was applied to for a force which should be sufficient to preserve the peace At 10 o clock, however, no other response had been made to this application than the arrival of a dozen policemen, and Provost Marshal Jenkins decided to resume the drawing. The wheel was placed promptly upon the table, the blindfolded man stood beside it, the man whose duty it was to turn the wheel was ready and Mr Jenkins announced that the draft, which was begun on Saturday, would be concluded At this time there were about two hundred persons present, and during the twenty minutes before the riot was inaugurated, they freely made use of excited and threatening language These ruffians did not hesitate at all about joining the main body of the rioters as soon as they arranged themselves before the building, and their exit was the signal for the attack, which commenced with a volley of stones When the office had been cleared of the officers and other persons, many of the more excited of the rioters rushed in and played instant havoc with the machinery, and demolished the furniture and papers. The books, lists, records and blanks were dragged into the street, torn into fragments and scattered everywhere with loud imprecations and savage yells The men seemed to be excited beyond expression, and in their futile efforts to wrench open the iron safe which contained the names of the drafted, gave themselves wholly to devilish rage and fury

The destruction of the material in the office was hardly accomplished when smoke was discovered to be issuing from the ear of the room, and this evidence of the building being on fire was received with vociferous shouts and other indications of delight. As the flames gradually increased, the passions of the mob grew deeper, and their yelling and brandish ng of clubs, and threatening of everybody connected with the enforcement of the draft was more emphatic. Some of the crowd supposed that the enrolling officers had secreted themselves in the upper part of the building, and notwithstanding the fact that women and children were known to occupy the upper floors, the cowardly wretches threw stones and other missiles into the windows

Fearing that these poor people would either be burned to death or maimed by these projectiles, Deputy Provost Marshal Edward S Vanderpool bravely stepped to the front, and assuring the rioters that they had utterly destroyed all the drafting paraphernalia, requested them to withdraw, or do something to prevent the destruction of the helpless women and children. Suspecting from his uniform that he was one of the drafting officers, one of the rioters seized him and struck him Mr Vanderpool merely shook off his assailant, and in a gentle manner renewed his request, when the act of the first rioter attracted the attention of the remainder, and a number of them surrounded him. They struck him with their hands and with stones, and seeing he could not resist them, he withdrew to the place where the police were posted. The rioters followed him with great clubs, and the men, who were desperate, beat him upon the body and head His head was so badly bruised in this interval that it is feared to the contrary? In Madras and other parts of East Indian cotton the advance has been proportionate Let it not be said that India will not prosper under such a state of things as this. No country can fail to derive benefit when the price of one of its staple products is seven four-fold, and this in a market possessing at least a capacity of consumption that it can take all that is produced and still crave for more It appears from official data that in the Madras Presidency alone there were, up to last March 1, 8 000 acres of land under cotton cultivation against 923 000 acres in 1864, so that, with a satisfactory season, there is every prospect of an increase of at least one third in the production of this description of cotton Considering this increase in the production and the accompanying great advance in the price it seems certain that a further vast impulse must be given to the development of the prosperity of India

AUGUSTA Me July 13 1863

For the Editor of the Boston Journal

Under a general order of the War Department Gov Coburn has been authorized and will shortly commence to raise three regiments infantry and one battery of artillery of veteran volunteers These corps will probably be placed under the commands of Colls Beal, Fessenden and Vanley respectively, all of whom have seen service and bear an honorable record By the first of next month we shall have twelve regiments at home from the war, out of which it is thought, the foregoing troops can be raised

Gov Coburn is in receipt of a letter from Secretary Stanton, expressing the thanks of the War Department for his Excellency's prompt and vigorous measures during the excitement caused by the pirates of the Tacony to repel depredations upon our coast and in harbors by the rebels The Honorable Secretary assures the Governor that no means will be spared by the national government to defend the coast of Maine Apropos, among the Governor's acts re charte ed a certain steamer to cruise off the mouth of the Kennebec to defend the navigation of the Kennebec to defend the navigation of that river When charter negotiations were making the owners of the craft stated that the lowest figure they could in the best go would be $200 a day Gov Coburn, who has a sharp eye to the pecuniary, thought this charge a little steep, and to use his own saxon language he replied in his characteristic way, "Gentlemen, I shan't be humbugged That price is altogether too much, think about $50 a day is enough" And sure enough he chartered her at that figure, making a saving of $1500 or more to the government or some ten days service of their boat.

It is understood that the several corps within the State are to be garrisoned principally by the invalid corps, which promises to be much larger than was expected This corps, it is altogether likely will be raised within a month

Capt Brinkerhoff, Quartermaster U S Volunteers, received a despatch Saturday stopping from the War Department asking how many men could be accommodated in the barracks that are erected in the State, in reply to which he stated that there were barracks sufficient to accomodate 12,000 These barracks will be amply sufficient to quarter all the men drafted in this city, as the number will not probably exceed 11,000, although it is understood that only about 7000 will be called for at present, and from the following districts, the quotas of which we give 1st District, 2468, 2d district, 760, 3d district, 2422 The draft in these districts will probably commence this week as consolidated lists of those in each one who come in the first class have been sent to Provost Marshal General Fry, and all other needful arrangements have been made There seems to be not little feeling against the draft, and from what we can learn it will be enforced without meeting, as has been reported with any armed resistance TONY CANDOR

THE RIOTOUS CONDITION It has long been observed that any particular phase of popular excitement is liable to go over the country like a wave. And now that the disaffection of the great commercial metropolis, long plumbering, has burst forth into terrific action, we may expect similar agitations in the same dangerous element of society wherever it exists, down to the remotest country districts Not that there will be many decided outbreaks of much moment done, because the sound majority will be used in season to overawe disturbances and secure the evil in transient and fading forms, but wherever there is a man disaffected toward the Government or a mind prepared for evil influences through mere vacuity, there is just the time when, if at all, as if by some mysterious impulse, they will break into overt demonstrations of disorder

We must expect these things—as must be prepared for them. The loyal country seems disturbed only to the extent of a furnace seven times heated—by war, dissension, open foes, secret foes, and foes of all kinds

But no man who loves the laws should be idle He should go more than half way to meet the crisis and ward off its dangers The whole question is merely one of preparation The dangerous elements are, even in the worst places, comparatively few, and they only get temporary advantage through the neglect and carelessness of the loyal Let every man, then, do his duty as if he loved it. Let him withdraw himself and as many as he can from all countenance of the evil minded, and render a prompt and active support to the authorities in all things In that way the darkening shadow will quickly pass off the face of the community, and leave not a vestige behind—Boston Journal

Where is King Cotton?

When the rebellion broke out the rebel chiefs confidently based their hopes of success upon the manufacturing necessities of the world—calculating that if they could hold out a year or two the want of the raw material for cotton goods, and the necessity of finding employment for the manufacturing populations would compel the governments of England and France to interfere, to the raising of the blockade, and thus produce a hostile intervention against the U S Government These calculations were plausible enough and there was certainly much anxiety at one time among the friends of the government, lest the cotton famine should compliment us with foreign powers That time, however, has long passed by, and the predictions of those who, at the outset thought they saw in the rebellion, a suicidal stroke of the South against its own monopoly of the cotton supply, are already approaching a fulfillment It was supposed formerly, that East Indian cotton could never be profitably used to any great extent on account of the shortness of the staple, and the rapidity of the native growers in the manner of sorting Most of the English papers said that no mills could be run with any but American cotton Time, however, has demonstrated the error of supposing that any one country has a monopoly of God's great gifts to the world Cotton can be produced all over the central zones of the earth, and if the planters of our Southern States do not soon lay down their arms and end this war, they will find the capacities of the world so far developed in that direction, as to bring down the price of this staple to a reasonable figure hereafter Speaking of Indian cotton, a late Liverpool paper says

The steady appreciation of Indian cotton is one of the most interesting commercial features of the day For years the prediction was freely indulged in that Indian cotton would never be largely consumed by the manufacturers of this country, and that, if the supply from America fell off, our mills would stop, Indian kinds being quite unsuitable to them. In what state should we now be were it not for the despised Indian cotton, seeing that it forms the bulk of what our mills are running upon? Let the prices speak for themselves. "Fair" Surat is now worth about 15d per pound, as this date last year it commanded 8¾d, in 1861, 6¾d, and, 1860, only 4¼d Does not this enormous advance in price speak volumes for the favor which Surat cotton receives and deserves in spite of all that has been said to the contrary? In Madras and other kinds of East Indian cotton the advance has been proportionate Let it not be said that India will not prosper under such a state of things as this. No country can fail to derive benefit when the price of one of its staple products is seven four-fold, and this in a market possessing at least a capacity of consumption that it can take all that is produced and still crave for more It appears from official data that in the Madras Presidency alone there were, up to last March 1, 8 000 acres of land under cotton cultivation against 923 000 acres in 1864, so that, with a satisfactory season, there is every prospect of an increase of at least one third in the production of this description of cotton Considering this increase in the production and the accompanying great advance in the price it seems certain that a further vast impulse must be given to the development of the prosperity of India

The several steamers taken by the general government for the purpose of cruising in search of the Tacony, will probably be discharged from the service as fast as they arrive. Most of them were sent out prov'sioned for thirty days' cruise Before the expiration of that time there will have been completed about twenty new government vessels, many of which will be dispatched in pursuit of the Alabama"

The Indicator of Wurtzburg states that a Frenchman who was descending the Rhine, one evening last week, in the Hereditary Prince steamer, when passing the great mill at Mentz, told the passengers that he was about to show them an excellent practical joke He had scarcely uttered the words when he put his hat on a bench, jumped into the river and was drowned In his hat was a letter stating that he had lost all he possessed at the gaming tables of Wiesbaden, and cautioning the public against playing there When his body was recovered, his purse was found to contain 17 270

VICKSBURG REBEL NEWS —The fall of Vicksburg was not known at the rebel capitol on Monday last The Richmond Enquirer of that day reported the "garrison to be in splendid condition The same paper further says —"Our men (the rebels) are unanimous in the declaration that Vicksburg can never be taken" This was two days after GRANT's troops were inside of the Vicksburg fortifications

The N Y Times says that three more ironclads, on the Ericsson Monitor improved principle, and similar to that of the famous ironclad Weehawken, are about being completed at the yards of the Messrs Secor, where the Weehawken was built and launched Their names are the Makopac Wecumseh and Manhattan

The Weehawken measured 844 tons mounting one 15 inch turret gun, but the three above named will measure each 1,024 tons, and will be equipped with a heavier armament They will be launched during the present month

Nearly one full regiment for the Invalid Corps—men honorably discharged but still able to do some duty—has already been formed in New York city

A New York paper mentions one of those singular cases of attachment, which we occasionally hear of between animals of the most dissimilar natures, exists between a pig belonging to Mr John Grover of that city, and a half grown cat Shortly after purchasing the pig, and placing him in his new quarters, a kitten, less than two weeks old accidentally fell into the porker's premises The pig instead of eating the puny intruder as most his relatives would have done, seemed pleased with her company, and showed her very attention consistent with his hoggish nature. How she was sustained during the first few weeks when she needed a mother's care, no one knows, but kitty soon made herself at home and was always to be found stretched upon the pig's back, or more often in what appears to be her favorite place on the top of his head, between his ears, when he lies down to rest He rises with great care, so as not to displace her when he walks about, she sits quite at her ease upon his back, and when he takes his food she walks slowly down and eats with him, sharing it as it would appear his bed and board He seems to take pleasure in caressing her with his snout and when she gets in his way, gently removes her with the same hoggish member He appears to watch over her with a jealous care, attacking any one who may enter the sty to molest her The case is well authenticated as it is remarkable

THE RIOTS Another attempt at a riot was made yesterday in Boston, but those engaged in it found they had a different set of men to meet from the pusillanimous authorities of New York city Artillery was planted in the principal streets ready to deliver grape in quantities to meet the demand, and the consequence was a speedy return of "quiet" to the city

A similar promptness and energy in New York, would have quelled the riot in an hour

The Government, however, does not intend to be subverted by Fernando Wood The draft will probably be suspended in the country at large until the New York subterraneans receive a wholesome lesson We hope and expect to hear of vigorous measures in that city within forty-eight hours If there are troops enough in the army of the Potomac, the traitors and murderers who have held possession of New York for the past three days should learn that we have a nation al, if not a city or a State government there

UNIVERSAL

HUNNEWELL'S

Has as its real claims to the confidence of the public only its perfect simplicity, and freedom from every component which in any way places restraint on its use, Day or Night, by Old or Young, and has proved the real secret of its true character and results, to which thousands can testify by its being made the Pocket, Bedside or Nursery Companion of all, and the enemy to all Pectoral and Lung complaints, by using it every hour, it does away, or when there is the least tickling in the Throat or disposition to Cough. By such freedom of use it

CURES

Coughs,
Colds,
Sore Throat,
Bronchial Complaints,
Hoarseness

and all such, as when neglected, end in

CONSUMPTION!

To Public Speakers and Singers it is most valuable, as it goes to the foundation, clears the Throat and prevents the prostration which follows great exertion.

As a Soothing Syrup its simplicity calls for special attention as the most delicate infant may take it with the greatest freedom.

HUNNEWELL'S

This Preparation, by its splendid results, has shown the great necessity of a true Nervine and Spasmodic Remedy, which goes to work on all such complaints, completely relieving the pains and leaving no stain of disability behind.

As most complaints of this nature proceed from outward causes, they are reached only through the stomach, and in most of them, time and money is made by the use of Liniments and Lotions.

Let this preparation be fairly tested, and it will be found worthy the name and fame of a true

ANODYNE!

IT CURES

Neuralgia,
Rheumatism,
Gout,
Tooth Ache,
Ear Ache,
Nervous Head Ache,
Distress after eating,
Fits,
Hysteria,
Nervousness,
Spinal Complaint,
St. Vitus Dance,
Cholera Morbus,
Pains in Stomach and Bowels,

also, the chief of all causes of disease and insanity.

LOSS OF SLEEP!

☞ To the Sleepless it gives the most refreshing sleep.

To Females, suffering the pains of Monthly Menstruation, it completely relieves, while Nature's work is undisturbed. This is of great importance, as from these large doses most, if not all, wrecks to the Nervous System, and Chronic Female Complaints.

For Stomach, or Tape Worms, it is a sure remedy.

For children, when Teething, it completely soothes the pain, by dilating with milk and rubbing the Gums. When very severe give it in 5 to 10 drop doses in milk, and is a perfect relief.

ELECTRIC PILLS

HUNNEWELL'S

This Valuable and Simple PILL rests for character on being the true type of CATHARTIC, simple, though thorough in action, seldom requiring but a SINGLE PILL for a dose, or one at night and one at morning—acts without the least griping.

AND CURES

Dyspepsia,
Indigestion,
Biliousness,
Loss of Appetite,
Jaundice,
Humors, &c., &c.

For HEAD ACHE, when caused by a foul Stomach, they are a perfect relief.

For WORMS are a perfect remedy.

As a FAMILY PILL they have no superior.

A Just Tribute to Merit

AT INTERNATIONAL EXHIBITION,

LONDON,

JULY 11th, 1862,

MAIZENA,

Was the only "preparation of Indian Corn" that received a medal and mention from the Royal Commissioners the action of all prominent manufacturers of Starch and "Prepared Corn Flour" in this or countries notwithstanding.

MAIZENA,

The food and luxury of the age, without a fault. One trial will convince the most skeptical. Makes Puddings, Cakes Custards Blanc Mange without Isinglass, with few if no eggs at a astonishing the most economical. A slight addition to ordinary wheat flour greatly improves Bread and Cakes. It is also excellent for thickening sauces, gravies for fish and meat, soups and is a cream nothing can compare with it. As boiled in milk will produce a rich cream chocolate, tea, &c.

Put up in one pound packages with full directions for use in various ways.

A most delicious article of food for children and invalids of all ages. For sale by grocers and druggists everywhere.
